Directions for Activities:

These activities were designed to go with the mini erasers found in the dollar section. If you don't have mini erasers, you can use plastic math cubes or whatever you have in your classroom.

Roll. Say. Cover. Repeat.: Students will roll a dot cube, say the letter name in the corresponding column and cover it. They will roll the dot cube again and repeat. If they roll the same number again, they will say the next letter in the column and cover it. They will continue to play until all of the spaces have been covered.

Letters, Numbers, Shapes: Students will sort mini erasers by letters, numbers, and shapes.

Taco Bout Numbers: Students will identify the number on the mat and count out that many manipulatives and place them on the mat.

Pizza Parlor: Players will need a dot cube and 20 manipulatives (game pieces) to cover their board. Each player will need their own game mat. Before the game begins, players will place each of their 20 game pieces on their game mat, one per white circle. To decide which player begins the game, players will take turns rolling the dot cube once. The player who rolls the larger number goes first. To Play: Players will take turns rolling the dot cube and counting to determine the number they rolled. They will remove that many game pieces from their game board. Players will continue to take turns rolling and removing until a player removes all of their game pieces. To remove all of the game pieces, the player must roll the exact number needed. For example, if a player has two left on their game board, they must roll a two to win the game.

ROLL. SAY. COVER. REPEAT.
