

Mrs. Gingerbread

A Letter Sound Game

Created by The Printable Princess

Ideas for using this activity...

Included in this packet is a printable page of the interactive chant. You can print this page or display it on a smart board or projector type screen.

You can also chart this poem on a large piece of paper. If you're like me, and can't draw...don't worry! Also included in this resource are pictures and letters that add to your chart paper to decorate it. There is a blank cake and one with a white square. Use the one with the white square if you want to display the letter cards. Tip: After you've written and laminated the poem on chart paper, cut a small slit in the top of the white box and slide a paperclip to hold the letter card while it is displayed (see middle picture).

To prepare this activity, you will need the poem (either the pre-made one or a charted one), and a set of alphabet cards (either uppercase, lowercase, or mixed). You will also need a container or pie/cake pan for the letter cards. I used a disposable type aluminum pie pan from the dollar store.

Ideas for using this activity...

Have students sit in a circle or call one student to the front of the room. The class will say the chant while the student gently mixes the letters and picks one from the “pan”. You can have the class make a mixing motion with their hands or pretend like they are adding a dash of letters to “help”.

The student will put the letter on the chart or hold it for the class to see. They {or the class as a group} will name the letter and make the letter sound. You can repeat this process for as long as time allows.

Also included in this packet are two alphabet pages for uppercase letters and lowercase letters. You can use these pages to follow up this activity in a small group. Have an adult pick a card and say the letter name or make the letter sound. Students will find the corresponding letter on their paper and dab it, color it or cover it with a fun theme eraser or a snap cube.
